Delete Container

When the user presses the delete button the current information of the container will be deleted, and the container field will have defaulted to none.

Delete Button